Pi Artworks Galatasaray:

Nejat Sati

“State of Mind” // 02.10 – 25.11.2012

Nejat Sati is at Pi Artworks Galatasaray with his solo exhibition titled “State of Mind” between the dates October 2nd – November 25th, 2012.

“State of Mind” represents the state of variability and caution. The series, which are associated with the mood, are equivalent to two different states of soul with some interventions during the exhibition. Even though they focus on spirituality, there are traces of violence too; violence with references to the social context rather than the artist’s own sentiment. The works in the exhibition are a gathering of the situations and times arised since two years, after Sati’s last solo exhibition at Pi Artworks, titled “Hypoglottis”.

Sati presents the pieces from his two different series, “Structure” and “Melancholy”, in “State of Mind” exhibition. The artist addresses two different moods, without feeling the need for a form: The first one is the inevitable transformation of the universe and the second one is the spiritual relationship formed by the overlapping the colors of the state of mind. “Melancholy” series are reflexive works, formed in a totally emotional context, without any associations with the logic or plastic context; sometimes very sharp and vibrant, sometimes harmless and stable. And the colors are the choice of moods.

Nejat Sati graduated from Dokuz Eylül University, Faculty of Fine Arts in 2004. He did his solo exhibitions; “Hypoglottis” at Pi Artworks (2010), “Well Done” at Apartment Project, Istanbul and “Agora” in Izmir (2009). Between the years 2010-2012, the artist took part in a residency program at Borusan Culture and Arts, where he participated in the exhibition titled “New Proposals New Propositions” before. In 2005, he participated in the “Free Kick” exhibition held within the 9th Istanbul Biennial, Hospitality Zone. He has been represented at the important art fairs such as Art Dubai and Contemporary Istanbul. Nejat Sati’s works can be seen at the exhibition “Encounters: Turkish Contemporary Art in Korea” between September 6th-26th, 2012.

Nejat Sati’s exhibition titled “State of Mind” can be visited at Pi Artworks Galatasaray till the 25th of November, 2012 between the hours 10:30-19:30 except Sundays.
